

Dan Adley is the Chief Executive Officer of KTA-Tator, Inc. (KTA) an employee-owned, nationwide consulting engineering firm headquartered in Pittsburgh. KTA's mission is to protect client assets and the country's infrastructure from the adverse effects of corrosion. KTA's specialties include coatings and corrosion engineering and inspection; steel and concrete fabrication inspection, and field and laboratory coating failure investigation on all forms of industrial and commercial structures. As CEO, Dan is involved in all aspects of operations including finance, strategic planning, succession planning, shaping culture, risk management and leadership development. Dan received a B.A. in Chemistry from St. Vincent College and an M.S. in Industrial Hygiene from the University of Pittsburgh.